Bridges to a Better Civil Society:
Animals in Law, Legislation, & Policy

Gary C. Norman, Esq., Past Chair of the Animal Law Section, Primary Chair of symposium 2010, and 2011 L.L.M. Candidate at Washington College of Law, American University; Joshua L. Friedman, Esq., Deputy Chair of Symposium 2010; and, Gina Miller, J.D. candidate 2011, announce that the Animal Law Section (Section) of the Maryland State Bar Association will host the above captioned conference.

On April 8, 2011, the Section will host this conference to discuss and formulate solutions, ideas, comments, and future steps to current issues impacting law, legislation, policy, and animals. Panel discussions and lively conversations will be the format of this conference, which will occur from 8 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. at the historic West Minster Church in Baltimore, Maryland and at the Maryland State Bar Association headquarters. (Note that this is a decommissioned church, and is a renovated conference space contained within a historic location). The proposals, and moderators and speakers committee, Joshua L. Friedman, Esq., Chair, who is also Deputy Chair of the conference, will welcome receipt of proposals until and inclusive of, but not after, January 20, 2011, at jtermplaw.com.

To cover the cost of the conference, a fee of $15.00 is required of attendees. The cost for law students is free. Please make, well in advance of the conference, your check payable to the Animal Law Section, Maryland State Bar Association. Please mail checks to 520 West Fayette Street, Baltimore MD 21201. Payment must be made prior to attending the conference.

For more information about the conference, including but not limited to sponsorship opportunities, please consult animalsymposium.com, the repository site for past and for future conferences and symposia of the Animal Law Section.
